PA NEW OBSERVES

Sunshine and warm weather of the past few days, have caused the buds on the lilac bushes to show up quite green, and will soon burst forth into leaves.

There is small question that spring actually is here. Farmers in Harlansburg vicinity have begun plowing. Farmers in various sections have pruned their orchards and last night one could see burning "brush" in all sections of the county. Honey bees, wasps and flies have made their appearance. Many farmers have been taking the sap from maple sugar trees. On some farms lime kilns were fired yesterday.

Pa. Newsc observed several youngsters starting out bright and early this morning with fishing tackle and creel. Evidently the suckers have started to run in local streams as a result of the past few days of warm spring-like weather.

Folks who were up early this morning have noticed the increased number of birds which have made their way up north in the past few days. They were having their usual morning concert in the wooded sections.

Real spring weather of today brought out one of the largest shopping crowds of months. New Castle downtown streets were filled with people, and there was an air of a real business boom around the city. Pre-Easter shoppers were evidently out in large numbers.

Reports On Madrid 'Occupation' Conflict

(International News Service)
HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish frontier, March 25—Despite official denials, reports trickling across the frontier into France today hinted that the forces of Generalissimo Francisco Franco may occupy Madrid within the next few days—perhaps even today.

An exhaustive check at all points failed to reveal anything that could be interpreted as officially supporting these rumors, but this did not prevent circulation of the impression that the lengthy Spanish war may be rapidly approaching a new climax.

At Burgos, members of Franco's high command officially denied that an agreement for surrender of Madrid by General Jose Mija's Junta already had been reached.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The powerful house ways and means committee overwhelmingly favors abandonment of a huge old-age social security reserve and is anxious to save business $300,000,000 a year by avoiding a scheduled one-half per cent increase in pay-roll taxes in 1940, a canvass of the committee disclosed today.

The committee also, it was disclosed, will examine federal-state unemployment insurance reserves to find out if the present 3 per cent federal pay-roll tax can be slashed. A rising tide of sentiment in the committee to lighten pay-roll taxes gripped the committee after secretary of the treasury Morgenthau yesterday urged abandonment of the old-age reserve, once estimated to reach $47,000,000,000 in 1980 in favor of a reserve three times the highest annual benefit payments.

The annual observance of the Solemn Ceremonial Feast of the Paschal Lamb, which has been carried out annually by New Castle Chapter, Rose Croix, will take place on Friday evening, March 31, at 7:45 o'clock in The Cathedral on Lincoln avenue with III, Walter Paul Brown, Past Commander-in-Chief of Pennsylvania Consistory, at Pittsburgh, as the orator of the evening.

New Building 'Boom' Is Seen

U. S. Labor Department Says 400,000 Houses Will Be Built This Year

MEANS MUCH TO BUSINESS IN U. S.

By LEON W. SHELLOSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A spectacular new building "boom" described by the labor department as outstripping any favorable industrial development since the 1929 crash, is helping to return American prosperity, Secretary Frances Perkins said today.

Reporting that residential construction in February nearly tripled that of February, 1938, Miss Perkins told International News Service:

"The brightest spot in the picture for 1939 is the housing industry. We estimate that more than 400,000 dwellings will be built in 1939 with private capital.

Reporting further that residential building increased 21 per cent in the short month of February alone, the labor secretary declared that scores of related industries and thousands of laborers have been swept along to better times by the housing spurt.

A department executive in closest touch with Miss Perkins elaborated on her remarks, with the secretary's endorsement.

"The boom means that not only the building industry is prospering," he said, "dozens of related industries and fields prosper or fall concomitantly with building. To name a few—railroads and all other forms of transportation, almost all labor, of course, and all of the material industries, such as steel, lumber, glass, brick and cement."

SMALL FIRES
City firemen were called to West Clayton street at 4:35 p. m. Friday where they extinguished a grass fire.

At 10:50 this morning they were summoned to the corner of Mill and North street, where backfire caused a blaze in the carburetor of the car owned by Edgar Leeper, of 327 Boyles avenue, causing damage around the motor.

DEATH RECORD

Find Buried Body Of Murdered Wife After Husband's Confession

ROGER W. CUNNINGHAM

MRS. EUDORA CUNNINGHAM

(International News Service)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 25.—The body of attractive 30-year-old Mrs. Eudora Cunningham, member of a prominent family, was found just before dawn today under eight feet of red mud.

Discovery of the body followed a confession by her husband, Roger, 33, that he strangled her to death the night of March 6. No motive was given in the confession.

Originally, Cunningham said she had gone to San Francisco on business. He even produced a telegram from there to her parents, saying she was well and not to worry, but investigation revealed he had requested a friend in San Francisco to send the message.

The break in the case came early today. After two and a half hours of questioning, he wrote out and signed a confession.

It read:
"Monday night, March 6, 1939, about 7:30 p. m., I strangled my wife Eudora and buried her in a partially filled sewer ditch in 3600 West between Eleventh and Park Place. May God have mercy on my soul."

Cunningham drew a map to guide officers to the spot. Two hours later they found her body, fully clothed, under eight feet of mud.

Wyoming's 'Tarzan' Brought Down By Aim Of High School Youth

BARNEY COHAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

POWELL, Wyo., March 25.—A 17-year-old Powell high school boy playing truant was the hero of Northern Wyoming today.

A bullet from a 30-30 rifle in the hands of Tipton Cox, a tall handsome, red-headed lad, a work of marksmanship that might have been credited to the victim himself, sealed the doom of Earl Durand, 26, rawmeat-eating slayer.

The bullet from the weapon used by the lad sent the killer sprawling on his face as he was making his getaway in the spectacular robbery of the First National Bank of his home town—the most brazen of his crime-packed career.

Shoots Self In Head

Durand started crawling back into the bank after he was wounded and one of his hostages, youthful president of the bank grabbed his rifle and shot him in the head an instant after he drew his own six shooter and ended his life.

Thus was ended the crime career of a bad man whose name brought fear to the mountain country residents as no other outlaw in Wyoming's history of outlaws.

The bullet from his own gun ended his life today.

He revealed that the attractive girl, who looks older than her age, has a "burning desire" to sing with a dance orchestra or in motion pictures.

Move To Defend Swiss Border

(International News Service)
GENEVA, March 25.—The Swiss government today ordered immediate mining of all roads and bridges along the Swiss-German frontier.

Authorities also decided to mobilize all troops necessary to man the mines. The measures taken by the government were similar to those put into effect during the Czechoslovakian crisis last September.

The government's action bespoke its fears that German expansion may affect the Swiss border. In recent weeks official spokesmen have come out with stern warnings that Switzerland would fight any territorial encroachments.

Secret Efforts To Allay French Italian Tension

European Powers Press Toward Goal Of "Mediterranean Locarno"

SEEK TO REMOVE MENACE OF WAR

Negotiations Under Way In Effort At Accord On Territorial Claims

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 25.—Under a mantle of strict official secrecy, interested European powers pressed forward today with efforts to arrive at a "Mediterranean Locarno" designed to allay the war menace arising from Italian territorial claims against France.

In an under-cover effort to bring about an agreement on Mediterranean issues between Paris and Rome, an envoy has been acting as go-between for Premier Mussolini and former French Premier Pierre Laval in discussions on the possibility that such an accord could be reached.

Proposed Accord

International News Service learned the proposed accord would embrace Great Britain and the Franco government in Spain as well as Italy and France. The agreement would provide:

- 1—Permanent solution of the Spanish question.
- 2—"Neutralization" and independence of Gibraltar.
- 3—Arrangements for certain privileges to the powers in the Balearic Islands.
- 4—Extended citizenship rights for Italians in French colonial territories and increased shipping facilities for Italians in French colonial ports.
- 5—Agreement on Italian claims for concessions in the Port of Djibouti and a share in administration of the Suez Canal.
- 6—Establishment of a naval "status quo" in the Mediterranean.

Would Appease Italy

(Background Note: A settlement along the foregoing lines would go far toward appeasing Italy's Mediterranean demands, some of which have been dangerous issues for European peace since the Ethiopian war. The proposals, at least in part, would be in accordance with the (Continued On Page Two)

A barograph was placed in her plan by Larry Therelsen, official of the National Aeronautic Association. She was in the air two hours and 26 minutes.

Miss Nichols' official altitude record is 28,743 feet.

Some there are who are planning trips and all the things they will do, but for real summer sport at a very small cost, just get yourself a canoe. A portable grid and some blankets and stuff, some food for you'll have to eat, and there you're an admiral of an eighteen foot wooden fleet. You can paddle along through a beautiful scene, you can stop whenever you wish, you can take it from me as a guy who knows, canoeing is quite a dish. It's a sport for kings or for anyone, for hotels you needn't pay, just park yourself underneath a tree, it's seventy four today.

State "Alcatraz" Project "Is Out"

Security Prison Not To Be Built

Governor James Holds Up Prison Planned For Mt. Gretna Site

SOME CONTRACTS ALREADY SIGNED

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, March 25.—Pennsylvania will have no "Alcatraz," it appeared as Gov. Arthur H. James scuttled plans for construction of the maximum security prison at Mt. Gretna.

At the same time, however, the governor reversed previously announced opposition to the White Hill industrial school project and said the administration would approve the construction plans.

"The maximum security prison is out," the chief executive declared. "But I believe we'll go through with the White Hill project."

General Contracts Signed
General state authority officials, in charge of construction at both projects, declared that general contracts totaling $2,426,000 and others for equipment amounting to $275,000 had been signed for the prison project.

Col. Augustine S. Janeway, executive director of the GSA, declared that the authority might have to make settlements on the contracts that would be almost as large as the total amount of the contracts.

The welfare department reported that the administration would save approximately $200,000 every biennium, that being the amount necessary to maintain and operate the institution.

persistent reports that envoys from the Madrid regime had secretly arrived at Burgos by airplane to arrange for the surrender.

(The London Daily Mail reported that Madrid already has surrendered, that Franco's advance troops already have entered the city and that the nationalist main army is ready to take possession later in the day.)

(In Rome an Italian press message from Burgos also reported that entry of Franco's troops into Madrid had been fixed for today. Both the reports went without confirmation.)

If and when Franco does take over Madrid, however, it will mark an important step toward his final conquest of all Spain and termination of the Spanish Civil War. Subsequent surrender of Valencia, Cartagena and other cities is also being negotiated, according to unverified reports.

SECRET EFFORTS TO ALLAY FRENCH ITALIAN TENSION

Italian attitude that the Mediterranean is a special sphere of Italian influence—"mare nostrum," "our sea." The proposed terms of the treaty led to Italian demands a few months ago for annexation of Tunisia and other French colonial areas.)

International News Service learned that the accord, which probably would not include Germany, would be accompanied by a trade agreement between Britain, France, Italy and the Franco government in Spain, along with provisions for cooperation in rebuilding the war-torn Spanish peninsula, according to present plans.

"Stop Hitler" Bugged Down
It was stated that Britain and France also would grant credits to Italy as an inducement to Premier Mussolini to enter the agreement and terminate the current Italo-French tension.

Meanwhile, the proposed international declaration against further German expansion, which Britain is pushing and to which France and Soviet Russia have consented, still was bogged down by Polish objections.

Polish Ambassador Edward Raczyński informed British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax that Warsaw cannot accept the declaration in its present form. He did not, however, flatly reject Polish adherence to an anti-aggression statement.

The Polish envoy reiterated that Poland would not consider signing such a document without iron-clad guarantees to aid in the event of a military attack. In view of the Polish attitude, a final decision has been deferred until the scheduled visit of Polish Foreign Minister Josef Beck to London April 3.

Mothers, Fathers See 'Y' Operating

'Open House' Last Night Attracts 350; Activities Are Viewed

MANY FEATURES OF WORK STAGED

Over 150 mothers and fathers of New Castle today knew more about the educational work of the Young Men's Christian Association, for last night they were special guests of the association at an "open house" celebration in the "Y" that drew around 350 parents and their boys.

It was an "eye opener" affair for all the dads and mothers, and they enjoyed it from the beginning to the end. They were afforded splendid opportunity to inspect every branch of "Y" service and to cross-examine (if they desired) the staff officers about everything in general.

The throng saw some of the events down in the swimming pool and saw others in the "Y" banquet hall. They moved over the entire building from 7:15 until the closing hour after 9.

The swimming pool demonstration came first. The complete swimming instruction program of the association was unfolded. A model Grady club question bee, conducted by a staff officer, followed the pool festivities, and following the question-answer battle came a special review of three hit acts of the coming "Y" gymnasium circus. Midgets, Junior A's and Junior B's participated.

Registration for the 1939 season at Camp Fred L. Rentz formally opened last night. A total of six boy-weeks were reserved.

General Secretary R. L. Meermaas, Henry T. MacNicholas, assistant general secretary; Physical Director William Winter and Boys' Work Secretary John D. Thompson were in charge during the evening.

Temporary GNCA Board Transacts Final Business

The temporary board of directors of the Greater New Castle Association, presided over by Acting President Norman E. Clark, convened in The Castleton last night for what probably was its final meeting.

Clark said the temporary board has requested that the permanent board, now being chosen by mail, hold its formal organization meeting on Wednesday evening, April 5.

He said the new advisory council of the organization will probably be called into session shortly after the general election results are tabulated.

Ballots for the final election are in the hands of all subscribers. They are returnable to the GNCA office by April 1. Results will be announced about April 4.

WYOMING'S "TARZAN" BROUGHT DOWN BY AIM OF HIGH SCHOOL BOY

tered at the base of the skull near the right ear. Bob Nelson, 28-year-old bank president, made certain of the death of the terror of the terrors with Durand's own rifle.

County Coroner Ray Eason said, however, that the bullet fired by young Cox would have proved fatal.

Teller Mortally Wounded
Before Durand fell in the gun battle in front of the bank, John Gawthrop, 27, a teller in the bank and another of Durand's hostages, slumped to the ground, mortally wounded, the victim of a townsman's bullet.

It was definitely established that Gawthrop was not shot in the back by Durand as the other two hostages at first insisted. He apparently was hit by one of the bullets from a weapon in the hands of townspeople who gathered around the bank. The bullet that killed him was of smaller caliber than of the rifle carried by Durand.

It was estimated that more than 5,000 persons viewed Durand's exhibition body between the time he was removed to the morgue and prepared shortly after four o'clock and midnight.

Durand, an amazing marksman and crafty woodsman, packed one of the most lurid crime waves in history into eight days.

On his last day, three kidnappings, six deaths including his own, and dread and fear for every woman and child in northern Wyoming.

Police Report Youth Admits More Burglaries

Ransom Tells Police Of Two More Homes Entered Police Chief Relates

Alleged burglaries continued to pile against Owen Ransom, East Main street youth today, because of his own admissions, according to Chief of Detectives Ray Showalter of the city police bureau.

He said Ransom, who asserted he robbed for a "thrill," confessed Friday, two additional house burglaries and rifling of an auto.

Previously Ransom pleaded guilty in an alderman's court to robbing three homes.

He was remanded to court for sentence today. However, indications point to his being further interrogated.

The youth was arrested recently by Showalter and his aides, J. Moore and J. Young.

The new disclosures report Ransom confessed robbing 709 Cleveland avenue; ladies diamond ring; necklace; ruby stickpin and three babies rings.

Home of H. F. Gross, 107 1/2 South Pine street; $2.00, cash.

Auto of Lawrence Taggart, 702 Brooklyn avenue; fountain pen.

Showalter said Ransom confessed entering several garages and automobiles, taking whatever articles he found and desired.

Ransom claims he threw the jewelry away in the Neshannock creek and a Crofton section street.

He mailed back to owners bonds and postal certificates. Detectives recovered some old coins sold to a Volant man.

IMPORTANCE OF VISIT INCREASES

IT IS interesting to read that Lloyd's underwriters at London think there's about one chance in five that King George and Queen Elizabeth will cancel their projected visit to Canada and the United States on account of the international situation.

Lloyd's is asking a premium of 21 per cent from hotel and shop owners who wish to be insured against cancellation of the tour.

None can tell what Europe's condition will be a month or six weeks hence. What is clear at the moment is that the British visit, if it comes off, will have an importance that even the most sanguine Foreign Office strategists could not have foreseen. Hitler has made it so.

HITLER TIMING MOVES

Time, at the outset, is on the side of the dictators. Hitler has taken Memel back into the Reich, adding it to East Prussia beyond the Polish Corridor, because at the moment little Lithuania was in no position to oppose him. Protests there may be, the deed has been done and Lithuania is bereft of that area on the Baltic coast over which she had a nominal sovereignty. That may be the beginning of the end of Lithuania, as Munich was for Czechoslovakia.

When he absorbed Czechoslovakia Hitler was able to act quickly, for there was only his own mind to make up. The historians will deal with his motive. They will resolve the question whether this was a part of his contemplated thrust to the East or was suddenly resolved upon to add to his store of men and munitions, just as overlying of Roumania would give him oil, arms and wheat. It is quicker, for example, to take 1,500 first-class fighting planes from the Czechs than to build that many more at home in Germany, where factories are already working at top speed.

Any "stop Hitler" program to be reached by Britain, France and Russia will require time to be effectuated. Hitler is astute enough to put himself on notice that any further grabs must be before coalition has been perfected. And that sort of adaptability was never better in evidence on his part than last September, at Berchtesgaden, when he was for Sudeten autonomy within Czechoslovakia, when at Godesburg he was for its severance from the Czechs, and at Munich he insisted upon taking it into the Reich. Ignoring treaty pledges, he keeps himself now, as he did then, volatile, ready to insist on more and more at every display of weakness or uncertainty instead of opposition.

CASE OF THE MAN PAST FORTY

Forty as an arbitrary hiring-age limit set by many corporations is not only unjust to many of the individuals concerned, but also operates adversely in many instances to employers and is against the public interest.

Such is the conclusion based upon a fact-finding economic survey by the Committee on Employment Problems of Older Workers, which was appointed a year ago by Secretary of Labor Perkins. Obviously nobody expected a "thumbs down" report from this committee as to older workers. Its statement, however, of their problems as applicants for positions in the federal government and in industry is impressive.

Proportionally more older workers are employed by government than by private industry. Pensions cannot be had under the Civil Service Retirement Act by those who fail to complete 15 years of active service, and undoubtedly reluctance to load their own established pension systems by men of beyond 40 militates against their being taken on by some corporations. With others, though, it is merely the impression, which is not at all justified, the report insists, that as much intensive work even in other than rough manual labor fields cannot be gotten out of men past 40, and that their liability to illness is greater. This is, of course, to ignore the greater stability of men of mature judgment.

So far as pensions are concerned, some sort of pro rata adjustment is capable of being worked out, the committee believes. That ought to be true, though it is, of course, a problem for the experts. A survey of the highest skilled crafts like those of the printers, the building trades and the railroad brotherhoods shows plenty of graying heads in most responsible positions. When it becomes a question of management, most of the men who hang out the "No hope" sign for the laborer or clerical worker of 40 or more are in the age category of those whose futures they blast.

NO IMPEACHMENT FOR MISS PERKINS

The House Judiciary sub-committee's report against impeachment proceedings in the case of Secretary Perkins seems warranted by the facts before it. The principal charge was unlawful conspiracy with other officials of the Labor Department to defer and prevent deportation of Harry Bridges, alleged Communist and labor leader on the Pacific Coast.

Certainly Miss Perkins' dilatory and obviously sympathetic attitude toward this alien trouble-maker warranted the widespread criticism it aroused. Coupled with her refusal to condemn the sit-down strike and her tacit extension of the use of this despicable weapon, now definitely outlawed by the highest court, her entire official policy has been marked by an absence of the impartiality demanded by her responsible position.

But impeachment is a process that should be applied only to the gravest derelictions of official duty. In this instance the majority of the committee found no evidence of conspiracy or of failure to enforce the laws relating to aliens illegally within the United States. Miss Perkins is censured by the minority for laxity in their enforcement.

Should the Supreme Court rule in a pending case that alien Communists are deportable, the way will be opened to sending Bridges back to Australia. Secretary Perkins has escaped impeachment. But the evidence adduced at the hearings does not suggest that her official course has been above serious reproach.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MARY'S LAMB STAR PUPIL TODAY

OUR PARENTS or grandparents read at school about Mary's lamb that followed her to school one day which was against the rule, for, "it made the children laugh and play to see a lamb at school." So the lamb was turned away and Mary rebuked.

Today the lamb would be welcomed by the teacher as about the best "book" to be found, and Mary would be heartily approved for her co-operative contribution. So also is the boy or girl who brings to school a pocketful of garter snakes, a can of tadpoles, a turtle, frog, toad, rabbit, pigeon, crow or any other walking, hopping or creeping creature. Hundreds of young children in various parts of the United States and Canada have been gathering cocoons from which they will see beautiful moths or butterflies burst forth presently.

Canaries, Too

In ever so many public and parochial schools I have seen canaries which the children care for. As I entered a certain third grade room a number of canaries were singing happily and the children were all at their work. I considered them much better to study to than swing music on the radio. I actually saw a high school group of several hundreds of students in a study hall presumably studying to swing music and I have heard high school students say that many study at home with the radio turned on. I doubt their wisdom, but then—

About a year ago a little bull dog was the first to greet me as I entered a rural school in New Jersey. The children paid no special attention to the matter. The teacher informed me that the children, since they have had the dog at school, have grown far more kind to dumb animals and that even some of the farmers in that community had quit beating their horses and mules.

Unusual Experiment

She also told me that she discovered most of the children had been having only bread and coffee for breakfast and were eating much candy at school between meals. Two white rats had helped solve this problem. Of the same age, one was sleek, active and playful; the other, only half as large, was ruffled, lazy and glum. The children had brought up the sleek one on a proper diet of grain, milk, fruit and vegetables; the other on white bread, coffee and candy.

A few months ago I was a guest at the home of a school principal on the Pacific coast. In came his eleven-year-old lad with many small sea creatures he had gathered from the ocean beach for his school work next day. His younger brother and the rest of us had great fun examining these creatures as the young "teacher" explained.

Dear Rabbit—

Once in a Cleveland school—it might also have been in Boston, Los Angeles, or Fort Worth—I saw second grade children writing letters to the white rabbit that hopped leisurely about the room, the patient teacher helping each child to spell the hard words. Then they read these letters; it was their reading and spelling lesson.

Commendably, many young children at school today see a hen sitting on eggs and the chicks bursting through the shells. And white rats and rabbits breed at school. How careful and protective the school leaders must be of the expectant pet mother!

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TRANSPORTATION

Asiatic Russia occupies a large space on the map. Long distances intervene between village and village, settlement and settlement. This is particularly so in Siberia. Russia has not many railroads; she has few improved highways. The roads are for the most part only trails and all sorts of transportation methods are used of necessity—horses, camels, dromedaries and last, but not least, the reindeer.

In a test completed by the Soviet government reindeer have demonstrated their speed and endurance. The experiment was made with thirty-five animals in the Nentsi and Komol regions of the Russian Arctic. They began a run of 1,750 miles across the tundra and its forests from Salekard in the Yamalo-Nenets region to Omsk. They drew heavily laden sledges carrying from two hundred sixty-five to three hundred thirty-one pounds. Four of them succeeded in pulling such a sledge forty-five to fifty-six miles a day. The entire distance was covered in forty-three days.

More Locks For Panama Canal
Earth's Whirl Causes Problem
Second Canal Could Be Built

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Panama canal would be a deal simpler to operate and a deal easier and cheaper to improve but for the earth's uncooperative (from this country's standpoint) whirl to the westward. Indeed, a new canal, as proposed, through Nicaragua or the Tehuantepec peninsula, up in Mexico, would be a comparatively uncomplicated engineering problem to solve but for our globe's whizz around its axis as it travels through space around the sun. Brig. Gen. Clarence S. Ridley, governor of the Panama Canal Zone, made this clear to congress in his recent report recommending an additional set of locks for the improvement of our present big ditch between the oceans.

Our existing locks work all right, but suppose, in wartime, even one of them were to be bombed by hostile aviators, or sabotaged? Why, that naturally would sew up the canal, making it impossible for our fighting craft to get through, from the Atlantic to the Pacific or vice versa—to say nothing of merchant vessels. That's clear enough.

Wants Safety Factor

Accordingly Gen. Ridley's scheme is to dig a sub-ditch around each of the existing locks (a kind of switch), each switch to have a lock of its own in the middle of it. Then if the main line were to be interrupted, passing ships would go a bit roundabout, without being delayed appreciably.

Of course it would be bad business if the secondary locks were bombed also, but the general thinks that unlikely.

Assume, however, that we leave Panama as it is—that we run another canal, instead, across Nicaragua or Tehuantepec. That, too, would be a k. The drawback is that it would cost like sixty. Furthermore, while we might be able to make a satisfactory dicker with Nicaragua, Mexico would be somewhat undependable. Thirdly, it would take about ten years to dig either one of these suggested canals—and today's international possibilities are rather urgent.

Gen. Ridley therefore favors more locks at Panama.

Secretary of War Harry Woodring agrees with him. So, apparently, does congress.

Yet certain unsophisticated folks ask:

What's the matter with a sea-level canal at Panama?

Why not promptly scoop out the locks?—letting ships steam right through, either way, uninterrupted?

Ah, that's where that infernal whirl of the earth enters into the equation.

As we twist to the westward, we encounter the Pacific ocean, which piles up against the Pan-American west coast, a good many feet higher than the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic, which virtually are sucked out from under them by the whirl to the westward.

Thus, if we dug a sea-level canal across Panama or Nicaragua or Tehuantepec, the Pacific would rush uncontrollably into the Gulf of Mexico; thence into the Caribbean and the Atlantic.

Would Destroy Channel

It may seem as if the Pacific would be drained dry in this fashion. This isn't contended. The water would equalize itself out in the midst of the seven seas. Nevertheless, the rush of water from westward to eastward, no matter whether through Panama, Nicaragua or Tehuantepec, would be terrific. No ship could navigate through such a channel. Locks are essential.

There's a continental divide to be negotiated anyway.

Inter-ocean traffic has got to be boosted over it in either direction. But even admitting that so-called water-level canals are dug to, there remains that awful swirl from western to eastern ocean.

Even if the world's turn could be reversed, it wouldn't help Uncle Sam any.

Instead of having the Pacific rushing into the Atlantic, he'd have the Atlantic rushing into the Pacific through the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

It gums his canals either way.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT
(Copyright, 1935)

Their Spirits Revive

WASHINGTON, March 25. THERE has been a certain revival of spirit among the New Deal political strategists who a short time ago were so low in their minds that they practically conceded Republican victory next year. Recent developments have lifted some of them from that state of despondency to a level where they once more reassert the present dominance of the New Deal and predict its continued ascendancy. It is true there is no ring of conviction about these predictions and the reasons upon which they are based seem somewhat strained.

NEVERTHELESS, they are indicative of the kind of political argument which the President gets from his intimates and of the sort of thinking that goes on in the White House inner circle, regularly reflected through its selected journalistic channels. From this source, three reasons all open to dispute are now advanced for what is claimed the turning back of the anti-New Deal tide so strongly manifested by the voters last November and reflected in Congress by the attitude of so many Democrats.

THE chief of these is the new foreign crisis precipitated by Hitler's Czechoslovakia coup. The contention is that this has so aroused the people that they are now overwhelmingly behind the President in his foreign policy. His stand has silenced some of his critics, brought him support from others and overshadowed domestic issues. All this, so it is said, has tended to restore the Roosevelt prestige and minimize opposition. There is a trace of truth in that but not much more. No matter how strongly his foreign policy appeals to some of his opponents, it by no means decreases opposition to New Deal policies or diminishes the desire to return to safety in the conduct of domestic affairs.

A SECOND point is that the President will be strengthened politically by the peace between the labor factions. This, it is said, will insure for the New Deal the solid support of organized labor. There are, of course, obvious answers to that. In the first place, peace has not yet been restored. In the second place, according to most posted persons, the best that can be hoped for is an armed truce. In the third place, while the radical labor elements are with the President, these are largely within the C. I. O. and the tendency of the conservative A. F. of L. away from the New Deal has been clearly manifested. No peace is apt to change that attitude.

THE third reason is just as interesting, but more flimsy. It illustrates the amateur nature of the gentlemen who advise the President on politics. They assert—and probably believe—that the great Negro vote, which, in eleven debatable states in 1936 was almost solidly transferred from the Republican party to Mr.

Delightful Celebration Held Last Evening At Hall On New Brighton Road

Upwards to 100 members and guests assembled for the affair, which began with the serving of a most delicious dinner at long tables resplendently decorated with colorful Easter appointments and early spring flowers. Arrangements for the dinner were in charge of Mrs. Sarah Caven, chairman; Mrs. George Swick, Mrs. G. N. Hearing Against Ellwood Water Company Withheld

There being doubt as to just what Wiley Hill included, a hearing against the Ellwood City Consolidated Water company by the Public Utilities Commission held on Friday at Beaver was withheld until an amendment can be made to the original petition.

While a petition had been presented to the local company for water service to Brown's Addition or Cherry Hill, no petition had been sent to the commission for this same service as had been done by Wiley Hill. The commission withheld the hearing and had the witness' statement struck from the records until an amendment can be included, and the water company submit estimated figures on the two adjoining communities as one project.

Another hearing will be held at a later date, the local committee, J. Emery Neuman, Adolph Neuman, David Van Gorder and Lee Whitmire, was advised.

Change Parole Method In "Numbers" Cases Here

Paroles for persons engaged in the "numbers racket" in Lawrence County will have to be petitioned for in the future, Judge W. Walter Bramham announced today in sentence court. In the past they have been made a part of the sentence and were contingent only upon the payment of the fine and costs.

The announcement came when Miss Ruth McClurg was up for sentence after pleading to a charge of writing numbers. She was asked if she wanted to aid the authorities by telling the district attorney the names of the persons higher up in the racket but refused.

Change System
Said Judge Bramham, "In the future paroles will only be granted upon petition of the persons involved. We will not put the provision in the sentence that the parole would be granted at any certain time upon payment of the fine and costs. The sentence in this case is $300 and costs, and three months in the county jail."

Rudolfo Morrone and Eddie Zdanovich, up on a charge of uttering fraudulent checks were placed upon probation for one year upon payment of the costs, divided one half each.

Vitaliano Fusco, convicted of assault and battery drew a suspended sentence until such time as arrangements can be made to pay some hospital and doctor bills.

William Lapinsky, operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated was fined $100 and costs and thirty days to the county jail. Out in ten if the fine and costs are paid.

Wilbur McGraw, obtaining goods by false pretenses was placed upon probation for one year upon payment of costs.

Chris Miller, up on two moral charges was assessed the costs of the cases and is to pay the lying-in costs and $6 per month.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

D. H. Ricks, Acting County Agent

TRANSPLANT SEEDLINGS TO SECURE MORE VIGOR

Seedlings are usually transplanted when 1 1/2 to 2 inches tall. Because the seed is sown thickly, the plants become spindly and undesirable unless given more space in which to grow.

Cabbage, broccoli, lettuce, cauliflower and kohlrabi are usually set 1 1/2 inches apart each way in flats having a depth of 2 1/2 to 3 inches. They are not transplanted again until placed in the field. Tomatoes, peppers and eggplants are set 2 inches apart. When particularly choice plants are desired, they are transplanted later into other flats, pots, or veneer bands.

Excessive heat, overwatering and crowding result in slender, spindly, undesirable plants. Good plants grow slowly and are short, stocky, and dark green. Moderate temperature and judicious watering and ventilation produce stocky plants.

Watering the plants during the forenoon of sunny days permits the soil to become warm and the plants to dry off before nightfall. Plants seldom need watering on cloudy days. Because frequent light waterings are conducive to damping-off, plants are watered thoroughly so that the moisture reaches the bottom of the flat.

Ventilation is important. Excessive condensation on the glass of greenhouses, hotbeds, or coldframes stimulates damping-off. For this reason they are ventilated on sunny days.

SPRING BRINGS CHANGES IN POULTRY MANAGEMENT

Many poultrymen will discontinue the use of lights on their laying flocks about April 1. The safest method is to lessen gradually the time that the lights are used. Such a change will not disturb the birds.

Although poultrymen may be tempted to give their birds free range on bright, sunny spring days, nothing is to be gained if the birds are being kept for the production of market eggs. Markets prefer eggs with pale yolks and it is difficult to produce this type of eggs when birds have access to green grass. When satisfactorily housed, confined birds usually produce more eggs during the year.

Range can be used to good advantage for the breeding flock. Birds in heavy production will consume large quantities of shell-forming materials. If the hoppers are kept free of foreign ingredients the birds will find the materials more appetizing. Occasional removal of the fine particles of shell and dust that accumulate in the hoppers is a good plan.

Remove hens from the nest as soon as they become broody. The longer a hen is allowed to sit on the nest, the more difficult it will be to break her up. Marking a bird each time she becomes broody will simplify marketing the repeaters. Since broodiness is a dominant factor in breeding, it is particularly important that all broody birds be eliminated from the breeding pens.

RASPBERRY CANES WILL RECEIVE SPRING PRUNING

The best season for pruning raspberries is again at hand. With red raspberries, Latham for example, pruning means narrowing the row to 12 to 24 inches in width and removing weak canes within the row, cutting them near the surface of the ground. Strong canes are headed back.

The width of the row depends upon the age and vigor of the plants. Young or weak plantings will not support as wide a row of fruiting canes as those three years old and growing vigorously.

When a trellis is used, the rows are usually 8 to 12 inches wide and the plants headed back only slightly. Distance between canes depends upon their vigor. Six inches is common.

Victorious canes are generally headed off at 4 to 5 feet above the ground, depending on their original height. Spindly, short-jointed canes are removed. Heading back insures the growth of larger, more desirable berries.

Black raspberries, unlike the red, tend to maintain the identity of the original hill and require a different method of pruning. Strong side branches have developed at a height of 14 to 18 inches where the shoots were pinched off last summer. Spring pruning will see the entire removal of the weaker canes and the heading back of lateral branches on those that remain.

Three to six canes are left in each hill of mature plantings, depending upon the number of vigorous canes. Some growers leave only canes at least one-half inch in diameter. They prefer to save canes since the weight of the fruit may cause those that lean badly to go down. The lateral branches on the remaining canes are headed back to 8 to 12 inches, the thicker laterals being left longer than the more spindly.

SPRING FABRICS MARKED FOR SHOPPER'S BENEFIT

Miss 1939 is buying her new spring dress. Heretofore she has not thought too much about the material of which it was made, but this spring she will find the fabrics on the counters labeled. Will she know what their labels mean?

For more than a year, rayon has been sailing under its own colors and becoming more and more popular, according to Miss Julia Markle home economics extension representative of Lawrence county. The shopper will find the smooth cool rayon prints that are always popular. She also will find the Bernberg rayon sheer fabrics for her hot weather dresses. New novelty crepes marked "acetate rayon" parade all the new shades.

In addition to these standbys, the shopper will find new rayons. There is a sanforized everfast rayon—the first time this guarantee appears on rayon.

"Spun rayon" is the label on many of these tempting new fabrics. Spun rayon is made by spinning a thread from the short cut lengths of the rayon filament, Miss Markle explains. It gives a softer, more pliable thread than the thread made from the smooth even filament which is turned out in the factory. These short lengths are readily combined with wool, linen, cotton, or silk before the thread is spun. This is being done for some of the new fabrics.

A heavy material in plain colors that looks like linen is marked "100 per cent linen and — per cent spun rayon." This has a crease-resistant finish and is excellent for sport dress, summer suit. Another crease-resistant spun rayon, much like linen in appearance but costing half as much, is lovely for dresses.

If Miss 1939 prefers pure silk for her dress, she will find it marked as such, says Miss Markle. No longer can she say when she gets home, "I thought I was buying silk, but I find it is something else." A linen, the aristocrat of summer fabrics, is also marked. It is being treated with a crease-resisting finish which is highly satisfactory.

If the shopper wants a cotton which will not shrink or fade, she must be sure to get this information for not all cottons will be so marked. She knows the term "sanforized" means full shrinkage, and that "vat dyed" or "color fast to all agencies" is her protection in buying materials that will not shrink or fade. More of the cottons this year are made crease-resistant than ever before in the history of fabrics.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATION REPORT

The Lawrence County Dairy Herd Improvement Association had 522 cows on test during the month of February 1939, according to a report submitted by the testers, Wayne Walker and Frank Wright. Fifty-nine cows produced over 40 pounds of butter fat and of these, nineteen produced more than 50 pounds of butterfat. Cows producing over 1,000 lbs. milk during the month numbered thirty-four, and nine of these exceeded 1,200 pounds of milk for the month.

The Holstein herd of Newell Dairy Freedom, Pa. led the Association in milk production with an average of 702.8 pounds milk per cow in the herd. The Jersey herd of J. C. Shoemaker, Enon Valley, Pa. was second with an average of 675.0 pounds milk. Frumen Dairy, herd of Guernseys and Holsteins, was third in milk production showing an average of 628.8 pounds of milk.

In butterfat production the Jersey herd of N. E. Sampson, Volant, Pa. led the Association with an average of 33.98 pounds of fat; second high herd was the Jersey herd of Lauren Thompson, New Wilmington, Pa. with an average of 33.58 pounds of butterfat. The Jersey herd of F. W. Byers, Petersburg, Ohio was third with an average of 33.30 pounds of butterfat.

INSURING YOUR CHILD'S FUTURE

Sometimes I think that parents do not realize how much they can do to insure their baby of a happy life. So today I am going to run over a few things that I think every baby has right to receive from his parents.

The first thing of all is a healthy mother. It is the parents' responsibility to see that the mother's health is carefully guarded before the baby's birth and after.

When the baby is born, the doctor takes on the responsibility of seeing that it gets along well for the first few days. But later on, when it's the parents' job to look after the child, I have found several things that are apt to be overlooked.

One of the most common is the teeth. In a way, the teeth are just like the baby—they have to be cared for before they come if they're to be given the best chance. Many parents do not realize that unless the temporary teeth are looked after properly, the permanent ones are likely to be crooked or weak.

Then many parents neglect to have their children protected against smallpox and diphtheria. This protection is so harmless—I have never seen any harm come from it and I have done many hundreds of cases—and is such an important piece of insurance for the child that every one should receive it.

If parents will begin from the first to follow the rules of physical hygiene for their child, they will be giving him insurance against suffering from the deficiency diseases caused by faulty diet or from tuberculosis or the other diseases that strike the child who does not get the proper rest, exercise, pure milk and sunshine.

Remember, too, that by teaching the child to mix with others and do things for himself as far as it's safe, parents can be sure they are giving their child the best chance of developing a good personality—insurance that he'll be able to earn a living when he grows up. Some people are so sheltered in childhood

Much Delay In Starting New Greta Garbo Picture

By MILTON HARKER
(Copyright, 1939)
(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, March 25.—It's beginning to look as though Greta Garbo is in for her most protracted visit in many a year to Hollywood's most times sunny climes.

M-G-M has reached the stage where it frankly admits her next picture "Ninotchka", scheduled to begin last November, can't be started until May at least and maybe not until the middle of summer.

Garbo's pictures always are long in preparation and long in production, but more trouble than usual, mostly because the glamorous Swedish lady hasn't liked the script, has revolved around this vehicle. It's now in the process of being written all over again and there is no certainty there won't be further complications.

After "Ninotchka" is completed Garbo has promised to do a second picture, "Madam Curie", before returning to Sweden for another long vacation—one which she may decide to make permanent, Hollywood sometimes thinks.

Garbo already has been in town for almost six months to it's not beyond the realm of possibility she may be here until a year from next fall before she finally completes her two commitments to Louis B. Mayer.

It's a funny arrangement between Garbo and Mayer. They don't sign written contracts. They shake hands on a deal and that's that. That's why you can count on sure Garbo will make two pictures. It's also the reason why you can search M-G-M high and low and fail to find more than a couple of Garbo signatures and those of long ago vintage.

When you speak of the long ago, few people realize that it will be 14 years this August 4 since Garbo arrived in Hollywood at a salary of less than $100 a week. Few people realize either that Garbo will be 33 next Sept. 18. Only at 33, she gets $250,000 a picture, whether she waits a few days or many months to make it.

Time flies, even for the screen's great.

Lower Merion Favored To Win Over Homestead

Eastern School Believed To Pack Too Much Power For W. P. I. A. L. Champs

TO PLAY TONIGHT IN PHILADELPHIA

By FRANK J. BURKE
International News Service Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Climaxing the controversy-ridden tournament for the interscholastic basketball championship of Pennsylvania, the East, represented by Lower Merion High, and the West, by Homestead High, meet tonight in Penn's high-domed palestra.

Experts rated Lower Merion, coached by Bill Anderson, a slight favorite to capture the coveted state crown, while others predicted a "close" battle. The victor will wear the crown of the P. I. A. A., officials of which reached for the headache powders several times during the recent elimination series.

Homestead Underdogs
Although Homestead was well scouted in the play-offs with Erie Academy, Lower Merion spies had little to report. The scouts did learn that Homestead has a fast, rangy team, packed with stamina and long range basket shooters.

Coach Paul Birch, quartered with the Homesteaders in a Philadelphia hotel, reported his boys were in "great shape and ready for our toughest game." He intends to stand pat on his divisional championship squad—Bill Votko, Paddy Logan, Jim Fumival, Bill Goggin and John Penick.

Three Lower Merion boys who started playing basketball together six years ago in grammar school, and won a grade school title, too, will start for the easterners. The youths, who hope for another and more important championship, are Lardie Davis, Jr., George Paine and Len Jones. Dutch Silverstein and Ira Rich complete the suburban Philadelphia quintet.

The Homestead five gained the state finals by edging out Erie Academy, 28-24, on the Pitt Stadium floor. The teams were even in foul conversions with two each, but Homestead's 13 field goals topped Erie's total by two.

Softball Meeting At "Y" Monday

Managers and officials of the City Softball league will have a special meeting at the "Y" on Monday night to effect an organization for the coming summer. The meeting will be conducted by Rocco P. Viggiano, president of the league and will start at 8 o'clock.

The following teams will no doubt be represented: Radiators, Gus, Tim Mill, K. Pulaski, East Side Merchants, Cunningham A. C. N. Y. A. Croton Progressives, Reifers, Key Stone A. C. St. Josephs, South Side Merchants, Wabash Bears, and the Shenango Pottery.

It is hoped that an eight or ten team league can be organized here this year. The Rads will be the defending champs. There is also a strong possibility that Mr. Viggiano will organize a girls league here this summer. Several girls teams are interested in the proposal made for a girls circuit.

Title Series Starts Monday

There will be two basketball title series starting at the "Y" on Monday night.

In the first game at 7:30 o'clock there will be the St. Pauls team and the "Y" Devil Dogs battling in the first of a three-game series for the House League championship.

The second game at 8:30 o'clock will have the First M. E. team playing the Second U. P. quintet in the first of a series of three games for the Class A championship of the New Castle Church League. There will not be a Class AA playoff as Epworth won both halves.

Other series games are billed for Wednesday and Friday night of next week.

Har-Brack And New Castle Unable To Agree On Contract For 1939

Football fans in New Castle are glad of the change in the Har-Brack-New Castle game, that will allow the locals to play Erie Tech here on Saturday November 18, instead of New Castle making the trip to Har-Brack.

Previously there were only seven home games, but now there are eight attractive home battles scheduled at Taggart Field—Butler, Youngstown East, Washington, Warren, Johnstown, Sharon, Grove City and Erie Tech.

New Castle will make three out-of-town trips—Beaver Falls, Massillon and Monessen. The season swings open here on Friday night September 15 with Butler Hi playing a night engagement.

"Greyhounds" Lose To All-Star Five

Section 20 Aces Win 39-34
Decision Over New Wilmington, Friday

New Wilmington high school's basketball team dropped its last game of the season, losing to the Section 20 All-Stars, 39-34, Friday night, on the Shenango hardwood.

The All Stars grabbed a 10-4 lead as the initial quarter ended. The Class B. W. P. I. A. L. finalists moved ahead 20-16 at halftime. The "aces" cut the margin 28-26 as the third canto ended. Ovis and Francis Pitzer, a pair of Shenango high cage wizards, led the attack for the Stars while Mercer and Minner proved the best for the "Greyhounds."

The game was a benefit for the Shenango Township Volunteer Firemen.

Umpires Will Meet On Monday

There will be a special meeting of the Lawrence county league umpires at the "Y" on Monday night at 8:15 o'clock. It was announced by Leo W. Hill, president of the association, today.

All umpires who intend to work the various games in the county loop this summer are asked to report for the meeting. Mr. Hill stated today that the county umpires are in no way connected with the city league umpes.

Local Youth Wins Sporting Honors

By defeating Private Price, Company A, 66th Infantry, Newkirk became post champion.

Private Newkirk was awarded a trophy by Colonel Allen, Post Commander, and he will receive as an additional prize a jacket bearing the insignia of the post.

SETS NEW JAVELIN MARK

Bob Peoples
Hurling the javelin 234 feet 1 1/2 inches, Bob Peoples of the University of Southern California sets a new American record during a meet at Long Beach, Cal. The former mark, 231 feet 7 1/2 inches, was held by Larry Bell of Miami University.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Local sport hodge-podge—"Gabby"

Kendra, popular local sports follower, has brought to light the fact that Ray Bombyk, New Castle high center, led the Section Three point scorers during the past cage race. The Hurricane flipper popped in 114 points in 12 games. Tiny "Rags" Woodward, Allquippa, for third place honors, each had garnered 82 points. By copping the championship of the City-County tournament, the Keystone have won six titles in seven years, which is close to perfection. The City Baseball Leaguers, selected three of the most competent commissioners in the city when they named "Pick" Gilch, "Junk" Jones and Fred Marcella.

Clem General, who has been active in baseball circles here for many years, will again lend his services to the game he likes better than any other. General was an unusually talented sandlotter in his prime.

Note: This is the third of a series of brief articles dealing with prospects of various major league teams. The New York Giants—Guided by one of the shrewdest men in baseball, the greatly revamped neighbors of the Yanks loom as one of the contenders for the National League pennant. Termed as "hitless wonders," the Giants of today have an array of stickers, thanks to the David Harum tactics of Bill Terry. But—and a big but—success or failure of the team depends on the work of surgery and other forms of hospital correction. Two of the top pitchers, Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher, are question marks. Both flingers underwent operations and have yet to prove themselves. Should Meal Ticket retain his old form, Schumacher's recovery would not dampen the situation greatly, provided Hubbell gets help from Clyde Castleman, another ailing Lucker and Cliff Melton. Camp correspondents report Manuel Salvo, a rookie, is the prize package of the season. "Gyp" was so good in San Diego last season, that he even topped Freddie Hutchinson, in a gruelling mound battle. Hubbell's elbow holds the answer to the pitching staff. . . .

Winter trades have changed the personnel around so that three former Cub players, Bill Jurgens, short, Frank Demaree, centerfielder, and Ken O'Dea, catcher, will fill in a few somewhat weak holes. O'Dea's catching will be a great help to Harry Danning, another ailing player. Jurgens and Demaree need no introduction. The absence of Mancuso, Leiber and Bartel should not be noticeable with these three new to the team.

The outer garden staff, with Demaree, Jo Jo Moore, Bob Seeds and the dependable Mel Ott, doesn't lack a thing. The infield problem centers around Burgess Whitehead who was felled by illness. The brilliant infielder will be the answer to Terry's dream if he finds himself.

First base is stacked high with streamable with these three new to the team. Bonura from the other circuit. Bonura should delight Giant fans with his lusty wallpops. Although he may leave some niceties to be desired, as far as fielding is concerned, he isn't quite as bad as some have pictured him to be. Whitehead seems O. K. at second, with Kampouris and Lou Chiozza ready to give a helping hand. George Myatt, a streamable third sacker, asserted himself quite well in the latter stages of the race last season. Myatt completes an unusually nifty infield.

Something John McGraw would have liked. The guiding hand of Terry will result in another close race. Another "subway" world series is quite possible, now that Memphis Bill has loaded power into his club. Still Carl Hubbell is the biggest question. . . .

Tom Sharkey

Well, if it isn't Tom Sharkey, the old-time fighter and strong man now appearing in a Cavalcade of America review at the San Francisco world's fair. Must be pretty strong yet, Tom, to be able to heave that 600 pounds around!

Commission Okays Doctors Report On Health Of Galento

Last Barrier Removed In Path Of Galento's Bout With Joe Louis

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 25.—Tony Galento has been certified by the New York Boxing Commission for his heavyweight title fight with Champion Joe Louis in June, Chairman John J. Phelan announced Friday.

"The commission has examined the doctors' report and finds Galento in satisfactory condition to challenge for the championship," Chairman Phelan said, refusing to elaborate on the report made by five physicians who last Tuesday put the Orange, N. J., veteran through exhaustive tests.

Granting of a license to Galento will follow as a formality at next Tuesday's commission meeting, Chairman Phelan said.

Exclusive revelation of the physicians' approval of Louis was made in a copyrighted story by Lawton Carver, International News Service sports editor, last Wednesday.

New Castle Rifle Club Wins Match

The New Castle Rifle club won another Penn-Ohio rifle league match last night at the Niles, Ohio range 956 to 944, with Ruby Moore of the local team the highest in the match with a 193 string.

The locals are undefeated in the second-half of the league season and are almost certain winners of the second-half title. McDonald won the first-half crown.

The results: New Castle, Ruby Moore 193, Finley 192, Milnes 191, Thomas 191, J. Moore 189—Total 956.

Niles, Reese 190, B. Basket 190, White 188, Welsh 188, Potter 188—Total 944.

Other scores: New Castle, Hunter 186, E. Crawford 186, Houk 186, Hockenberry 187, Weatherby 185, Schweinsberg 184, Horton 182, Gardner 179, Kilbreath 176, J. Allen 174, Cooper 176, McKeown 181.

Niles, Hoffman 182, Corbett 181, Kagnie 180, Morton 179, D. Basket 178, Freeman 171, Young 162, Summers 157.

The New Castle Club will have a practice shoot on Monday night at the Cathedral range.

Get Your Banquet Tickets By Monday

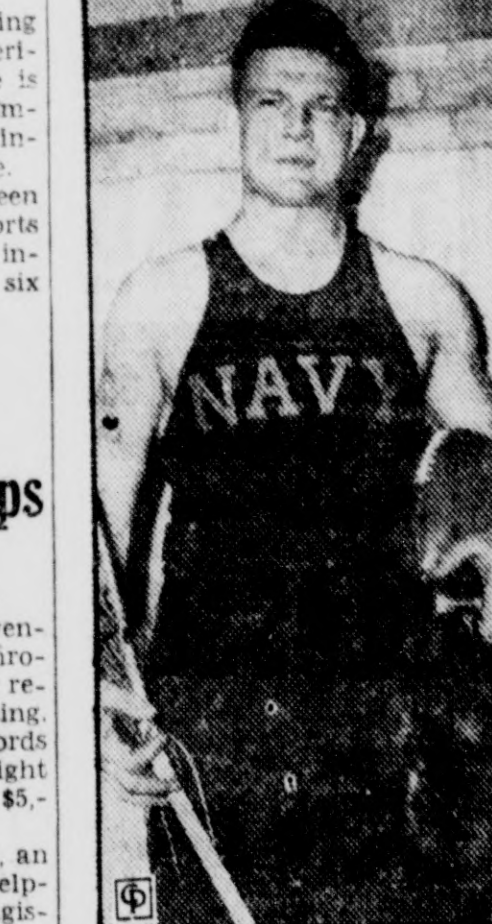

Henry Rodgers, general chairman of arrangements, reminds Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association members and guests to secure their tickets for the March 30 Cathedral banquet by 5 p. m. Monday. The sale will absolutely close at that time, and no tickets will be sold at the Cathedral.

A meeting of all committees will take place Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Rodgers states.

WILL MEET MONDAY
The Gus' softball team, formerly the Nobils and Amodies, will have a meeting at the "Y" Monday night at 9:15 o'clock for the election of officers and to discuss the coming season. Gus' hopes to put a fast team in the city league this summer and will try to win the championship from the Rads.

"I couldn't find this golf course yesterday."

Navy's Top Athlete

Allan Bergner

Navy's outstanding athlete, Midshipman Allan Bergner, is shown with a few of the sports paraphernalia emblematic of his proclivity in athletics. Bergner, seen at Annapolis, Md., won four letters, the first in 20 years at the naval academy to win awards in four major sports.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

W. Lawson Little of San Francisco blazed the way Friday in Greensboro, N. C., to turn in a record shattering score in the $5,000 open golf tournament. He shot a 65, which is five under par for the course, and at the end of the day was four strokes in front of the field.

The next boxing show which will be staged in this city will be April 10, it was announced today. It is hoped to have some new faces added to popular faces in the battles.

Randolph-Macon beat Ohio State 6-4 and Illinois Wesleyan won from Chicago, 7-6, in baseball yesterday. Princeton won from Cornell in Rugby by 21-0 and St. Johns upset Lehigh in lacrosse 20-5.

Golf has been added to the sports calendar at Slippery Rock Teachers college. The season will open May 2 with Geneva in the visiting role and the Tutors then will play Grove City at Slippery Rock, May 4, and a return game at Grove City, May 6. Westminster will tee off against the Tutors at Slippery Rock, May 16. Other matches: May 13, Penn State at Slippery Rock; May 19, at Allegheny in an invitation meet. James Dart of this city and Kenney Bunney of Ellwood City are two of Slippery Rock's best performers.

Titan Netmen Preparing For Coming Season

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, March 25.—With eight matches already scheduled, and placed under the tutelage of a new net-coach, Prof. Walter Biberich of the German department, an inexperienced Westminster tennis squad opened inside practice sessions early this week.

From the 1938 team, which last year captured four tied one, and dropped two decisions in a rain-riddled schedule, three men, Ralph McGeech, Cambridge, N. Y.; Harry Glenn, Wilkesburg, and Richard Kennedy, Butler, will return. Last year's team, paced by Ken Grubb of Youngstown and Earl Wright of Bellevue, featured its season with wins over Youngstown, Geneva and W. & J.

After nearly a month of indoor practice, the veteran netters, who will depend on untied freshman teammates for success, will emerge to face an opposition including W. & J., Geneva, Allegheny, Slippery Rock and Waynesburg.

Playing without a high-class No. 1 man since the graduation of Robert Grier, Pittsburgh star of 1934-37, the Titan netmen have produced better than 500 ratings in two years of district competition.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Just five days after today and the local sportsmen will gather in the ballroom of the Cathedral for a giant banquet. According to reports the tickets have been selling like hotcakes and a large crowd is expected. One little fact that we have neglected to mention, although it has been mentioned in other spots of this paper, and that is that the little woman is invited to this gala affair. She will enjoy the conversation and the pictures and in that way be in a better position to understand why you like to go to the woods. So pack up your appetite and come to the Annual Lawrence County Sportsman's Association Banquet next Thursday night... dinner will be served at six-thirty.

The women folks are thinking about Easter... new dresses are being made or bought... coats and show... and of course one of those things called hats... not that we rightly believe that they should be called hats... but that is the name given them. So men who don't think a little about Easter yourself... look at the new hats and maybe a new pair of shoes. That old suit of last summer is it still in wearable condition? They have some mighty fine wearing apparel in our local stores. And while you are thinking about Easter... don't forget those folks who first made a home for you. A little card or small basket of flowers... or a Candy Easter Egg will do the trick. Be thoughtful and you will enjoy life much better.

If you'll only KEEP-A-Going! You can pull through ANYTHING. For it's only while you're in it. That you feel a sorrow's sting. And oft-times, in looking backward, See 'tis blessing in disguise—For the cloud that looms the blackest Hides a vision of blue skies. Just remember there are others. Who've a heap more grief than you. Give a word of courage to them, 'Tis a kindly thing to do. And your task of overcoming Will to you a blessing bring. If you only "Keep-A-Going" You can pull through ANYTHING.

Knickerbocker Sees No Immediate War

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 25.—Because of the increasingly serious situation in Europe, H. R. Knickerbocker, the noted foreign correspondent of International News Service, was re-assigned to his European "beat" today.

Knickerbocker, Pulitzer prize winner and a veteran of many years in the foreign field, curtailed a tour of South America to return to his headquarters in Paris. He flew to New York from the west coast of South America, where he had been engaged in an exhaustive study of the extent of European penetration into economics and politics in the western hemisphere, and sailed for Paris aboard the Queen Mary on Friday.

Just before his departure, the correspondent, expressed belief that a major European war is not an immediate probability but voiced fears that the continued imperialistic expansion of Nazi Germany might precipitate an exceedingly grave situation before the end of the summer.

New Post Office Near Completion

Mercer Building Will Likely Be Ready To Turn Over By May 1

(Special To The News)
MERCER, March 25.—Although they have until June 21 to complete their contract, the Andrews and Dawson Company of Montgomery, Alabama, likely will be ready to turn over Mercer's new postoffice building to the Treasury Department by the first of May. Except for the plumbing, painting and electrical work, all sub-contracts have been fulfilled and those jobs likely will be finished by the first of the month. All that remains outside the building is laying of concrete drives and sidewalks and the grading of the lawn. This is in progress and weather permitting, will be completed within the next two weeks.

All that then will remain will be the furnishing job in preparation for final inspection by government agents. A shipment of office furniture and other equipment is expected about the middle of April. It is understood that only stock, records and mailing paraphernalia will be taken from the present quarters to the new office.

Pastor Praises 'Y'; Long Been Booster

Rev. Knippel, Emanuel Evangelical Minister, Adds To Tributes

One of the New Castle Y. M. C. A.'s most ardent boosters is Rev. J. George Knippel, pastor of the Emanuel Evangelical church, South Jefferson and West South streets. Today, in an article he entitled, "A Long Contract With the 'Y,'" he extols its work and explains just why he has always been such an active supporter.

Rev. Knippel writes: "My association with the Y. M. C. A. began in 1894, and continues to the present, a period of forty-five years. During many of these years I served as volunteer committeeman and one year as College 'Y' president. Most of these years I was a minister. Does experience mean anything? My almost daily contact with young men in the physical department has been most delightful and rewarding and mutually helpful. I have seen lads with an inferiority complex, due to foreign birth or descent and to struggle with conditions not of their fault, or choice, brace up and look the world squarely in the eye. I have been sincerely consulted as a minister in educational matters, and also had the privilege of advising in physical, moral and spiritual things. Lads have informally requested enlightenment concerning the church and her denominational emphases and agreements and differences, which was always met by me in an impartial and fair manner.

I have seen lads come thru the Boys' Department into maturity. It has been all along a most delightful and inspiring experience and I have myself received a liberal portion of benefit. While the 'Y' has not been able to reach all its aims and ideals, nevertheless the success achieved has been satisfactory and commendable. I should certainly covet the privilege of continuing actively with the 'Y' until the end of my life, but my retirement from the active ministry in the fall places the fifteen miles from the nearest 'Y', but fondest memories and valuable physical benefits will be gratefully enjoyed. Here with a salute to the 'Y' in general and to the New Castle 'Y' in particular!

The Human Side Of The News

Odette Keun's book, "I Think About America," published by Longmans, Green, is a gem of profound and superficial observation, a razzle-dazzle of hit-and-run comment, an emotional foray, suddenly turning to cool, surgical analysis.

This brilliant Frenchwoman, author of "I Discover the English," "My Adventures in Bolshevik Russia," and "Darkness from the North"—the last about Germany—makes one think of her brilliant companion, Taine, whose torrential outpouring on English literature was a literary tour de force of the last century. Perhaps they have only in common their spirited Gallic ebullience. But they both show what the growing French can do when they cut loose on us outsiders. And how they do swing from the instep!

Consider Miss Keun on American sports. After relating that athletic coaches get $35,000 a year in America—one of her typical offhand estimates—she asks indignantly, "And for what?" And then she tells us:

"My God, I'll tell you for what.... To train two competitive teams of footballers or baseballers, or hockey players, or experts in whatever the blasted game is. These teams look like particularly horrible convicts and behave like particularly hulking thugs, out for sheer assassination. They appear in the stadium and at once go into a 'huddle,' an idiotic ring of bent backs, of arms around shoulders and of muttering. Suddenly they break up their huddle and turn into raving mad rhinoceros. They jump, bounce, trample, kick, kneel, lie, fall, throw, and manhandling each other. Never did you see such savagery, such ugliness and such craziness."

Miss Keun gives several pages to this furious rant and concludes:

"These violent efforts to kill by every conceivable method last for a few seconds; then the huddle starts again and lasts for ten or fifteen minutes; then the teams murderously rush forward again; then the huddle occurs again; then the rhinoceri charge again—and so forth and so on."

"During this unspeakable and barbarous exhibition, the audience in the vast stadium is delicious and white-clad epics called 'cheerleaders,' leap up and down, beating their breasts, slapping their thighs, waving their arms and legs, for all the world like cannibals in a head-hunting dance, to the accompaniment of senseless and discordant collective yells as would put a horde of drunken monkeys to shame.

"Add to this, brass bands banging and blowing, and megaphones braying, and you will understand, I hope, my indignation against educational institutions that, instead of making scholars, breed, for money and popularity, the nauseating lunatics I have much too tamely described."

One suspects that the girl doesn't care for American football. And so with much else of our traditions, institutions and behavior. In fact, at times, in reading her book, one feels like saying, with the Virginian, "Smile when you call me that."

But, here's an odd business. This astute Frenchwoman, who knows the labyrinth of the European crack-up from the back-room political stews to the cataclysmic climax, likes us, admires and thinks we are the hope of the world. With a horse shoe in her glove, she takes a belt as pretty nearly everything over here, and yet finds in America what she came to find—tremendous creative intelligence and vitality, daring, generosity, friendliness and an overwhelming complex of human and material resources which will someday reorder the world—at least, lead it back to civilization.

She begins by a blistering denunciation of Europe as a complete and elaborate washout—as dead as the League of Nations. Her blasting of Communism and Fascism, as she has observed them from her ringside seat, leaves nothing to be desired in the view of their most ardent enemies.

Bitterly renouncing the Old World and all its works, she comes to us with a jaundiced, critical eye. She is appalled by our waste, our political corruption, our slums and, above all, by our looting and abuse of our land of resources.

Her understanding and her affirmation of our basic democratic processes and her faith in their ultimate fruition would put to shame those of us who know too little about them and hold them too lightly. It is a provocative, at times irritating book in its multitude of careless and casual and frequently cockeyed observations, but a salutary book in its broader, more informed and less particularized critiques. I recommend it for the reader who can "take it."

Fayette County Sheriff Freed

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 25.—Sheriff Tom Aubrey had his freedom today, exonerated on all counts of charges relating to tax collections, despite Judge Horatio S. Dumbauld's word to the jury that there was "sufficient evidence" to establish the defendant's guilt.

The jury of eight women and four men deliberated three and one-half hours and then returned a verdict of "not guilty." Aubrey was ordered to the costs of the prosecution. The sheriff cried with joy as the verdict was read.

Judge Dumbauld told the jury he was glad the responsibility for acquittal rested upon them, and not the court. Defense counsel objected strenuously to the jurist's charge to the jury.

MAHONING VALLEY GRANGE

John Casaccia to William P. Thellman, fourth ward, $1.

In a motion filed today, Attorney Edwin K. Logan and Samuel L. Clark ask for a new trial for Sylvester Newton, convicted of statutory rape in the recent term of criminal court. They aver, in that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence, the judge erred in his charge to the jury in stressing the commonwealth side, and that defense counsel was not permitted to read certain law points which they presented. A hearing upon the motion will be held later.

Signs of spring in the court house.

Rakes and lawn tools outside the courthouse—mop buckets in the hall—a smell of cleansing fluid and a far-away look in the eyes of the courthouse attaches.

Stones for the graves of ex-service men who have died since last Memorial Day are available now, and several requests have come in for them. The county places a stone at the head of ex-service men's graves without cost to the surviving members of the family. To get them up for Memorial Day requests should be put in now.
